DUMA DISSOLVED, RUSSIA AWAITS POSSIBLE UPRISING

CZAR IGNORES HIS SOLEMN COVENANT

ORDERS PEREMPTORY REVOCATION OF LAW GIVING RIGHTS

DISTURBANCES ARE EXPECTED

Drastic Order Issued Muzzling the Press and Liberal Papers Forced to Suspend Publication

ST. PETERSBURG, June 17.—The duma committee reported today that the charges that the democrats had plotted to assassinate the czar are unfounded, and that the czar had actually signed the ukase two weeks ago, before the cause was alleged to have existed. This has augmented popular resentment against the government.

SEVASTOPOL, Russia, June 17.—An alleged attempt was made today to kill Admiral Wiren, commander of the Russian squadron at Sevastopol. A blank torpedo from a torpedo boat commanded by Lieut. Ruhzek bored a hole through a launch in which Wiren was riding. Wiren had a narrow escape from drowning. Lieut. Ruhzek and all the officers of the torpedo boat were arrested.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 17.—The expected official ukase abolishing the duma was signed by the czar Saturday, although the fact did not transpire until late in the evening. In ordering the election of another to meet Nov. 14, the method of voting was fixed for the purpose of preventing "the submergence of the educated classes by the uneducated masses."

Text of the Ukase

The imperial ukase is addressed to the ruling senate and roads as follows:

According to paragraph 105 of the fundamental laws of 1906 we ordain:

"Firstly, that the imperial duma be dissolved; secondly, that new elections of members to another imperial duma be held, beginning Sept. 14;

TOKIO HEARS AOKI IS TO BE RECALLED

Move of Japanese Progressives Said to Have Won

TOKIO, June 17.—The Hochi, an anti-administration organ, announces that Vice-Count Aoki, minister to the United States, is to be recalled, and that Baron Kaneko of the war party, is to succeed. Kaneko is a former minister of justice in the Tokyo cabinet. He was sent to the United States during the Russian-Japanese war on a confidential mission for the Japanese government.

In an editorial about the American situation recently the Hochi, after commenting on the San Francisco troubles as "worse than the murder of a missionary in China, which resulted in the occupation of Kiao Chau," said:

"Who would blame an appeal to the last measure if impotency to protect treaty rights is proved? We hope, however, that Ambessador Aoki will be firm enough to make the Washington government quickly take measures to mete out justice to the Japanese."

CITY SWELTERS FIRST HOT DAY

SUNDAY IS HOTTEST DAY OF PRESENT COOL YEAR

THERMOMETER REACHES 91

Continued Warm Weather is Forecasted for Tonight and Tomorrow—Good for Corn

La Crosse sweltered yesterday and today—the hottest days of the present cold spring.

The temperature of yesterday reached 90 degrees above, according to the officials of the government weather bureau here.

The river and various resorts about the city were lined with people seeking relief from the sun's burning rays, and the parks were alive with sweltering numanity. Many disregarded the fact that the public baths were not officially opened and sought relief in a swim.

The temperatures today were even hotter, as follows:

CLAIMS SMITH'S 'DUST'

Woman Says She Is Child by Secret Marriage

NEW YORK, June 17.—A claim for eight and one-third millions of dollars from the estate of the late James Henry (Silent) Smith, based upon an amazing staory of a hidden chapter in the Silent one's life, is soon to be made in open court.

A New Orleans woman—Mrs. Simon Dufreche—is the claimant. That she is a daughter of Smith, born to him and Ellen Gorgen after a romantic marriage in 1866, in Texas, is the ground upon which she is going to ask the law to give her one-third of his immense fortune.

She declares she has absolute proof that her father was none other than the reticent, enigmatical millionaire who died in Japan last March.

ERICKSON IMPEACHED

Attorney Says He Lies—Kaufman Avers Blackmail

FLANDREAU, S. D., June 17.—Joe Kirby, an attorney of Siux Falls, was the defense's first witness in the Kaufmann trial, this morning. He disputed the statement made by Peter Erickson, the prosecution's star witness, as to Kirby telling him to omit certain testimony at the preliminary examination of Mrs. Kaufmann when Kirby was aiding the prosecution. J. H. Ramsey, a shoe dealer, and Joseph Schwartz, an architect, both of Sioux Fals, testified for the defense.

Late Saturday afternoon Mr. Kaufmann went on the stand on behalf of his wife, and testified that Erickson had sought to blackmail him by offering to testify in favor of the defense if there was "anything in it."

BOER WAR HISTORY

British War Office Orders Unifinished Book Destroyed.

LONDON, June 17.—England is not to know the real truth about the Boer war. To save the reputations of certain well known generals and officials the war office has had Colonel Tenderson's unfinished "History of the Boer War," destroyed. It was written as the official history by the greatest English writer on military subjects since Napier, but its author died before completing his monumental work.

After Colonel Henderson's death the war office examined his work and found that it was too much outspoken about the blunders and graft that distinguished the campaign.

MADE FAME AS A GOVT. STATISTICIAN

Henry W. Furniss

Hon. Henry W. Furniss, minister plenipotentiary from the United States to Haiti since November 23, 1905, was born at Brooklyn, N. Y., about 39 years ago, but his home has been in Indianapolis for the past 30 years, where he was educated in the grammar and high schools. He studied medicine, and from 1895 until 1896 was a surgeon in Freedman's hospital in Washington, D. C. He then returned to his home in Indianapolis. In 1889 he entered the census office at Washington and made schedules of financial transactions, bonded and other indebtedness, state and national, and summarized the laws relating to these intricate fiscal affairs. He was made consul at Bahia, Brazil, on January 14, 1898, where he remained until given his present post in Haiti.

BEAUTIFUL CHURCH IS CONSECRATED

EDIFICE BUILT YEARS AGO, JUST FREE FROM DEBT

BISHOP WEBB OFFICIATES

Fine Music by Special Choir is Given Under Direction of Professor Packman Yesterday

After fifteen years of waiting, because of a debt which existed on the building, the Christ Episcopal church of this city was consecrated yesterday at noon, the Rt. Rev. W. W. Webb, bishop of Milwaukee, officiating. The Christ church is a beautiful structure and one of the largest Episcopal edifices in this part of Wisconsin.

Saturday evening Bishop Webb was entertained at a reception, tendered at the church parlors by the parishoners of Rev. C. N. Moller, pastor. The reception was informal, but an event characterized by the elaborateness of the details. The church was especially decorated for the occasion and leading members of the congregation assisted in entertaining the guests.

The consecration services were held Sunday morning with appropriate ceremonies by Bishop Webb. The attendance was very large, the church being filled by the congregation and visitors interested. In the evening confirmation services were also in charge of Bishop Webb, assisted by Rev. C. N. Moller.

The Episcopal church in La Crosse has been established for fifty years, yesterday also marking the fiftieth anniversary, services being held in connection with the consecration. Eighteen years ago Christ church was erected in the city, and until a short time ago a debt of $17,000 was upon the church. Under the rules of the denomination a church cannot be consecrated while a debt exists. Through the efforts of the rector, Rev. C. N. Moller, dean of the La Crosse district of the Milwaukee diocese, this debt was recently paid, making it possible for the church to be consecrated.

Bishop Webb has returned home. While in the city he was the guest of Mrs. G. C. Hixon.

RAILROADS AND GOVT. CO-OPERATE

SHIPPERS ALSO AID IN SEEKING UNIFORM BILL OF LADING

ALL FORMERLY OPPOSED IT

Enlarged Powers of Interstate Commerce Commission Clears Way for Regular Methods

(By J. C. Welliver.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—(Special).—There has been no better illustration of the disposition of railroads and shippers to co-operate with the government in efforts to unify and harmonize transportation methods, than is afforded by the appearance of a joint committee of shippers and railroad officials before the interstate commerce commission, asking approval for the uniform bill of lading.

This problem of the uniform bill of lading has been an urgent one for years. Formerly the government authorities wanted the roads to adopt such a bill, and the railroads objected. Now that it is believed the commission has power to prescribe such a bill, the railroads took the necessary initiative to have the reforms inaugurated.

A bill of lading is simply a contract and a receipt; a receipt for goods, and a contract for their delivery. Immemorially the railroads have been wont to write into these bills all the possible limitations of their liability, until most of the bills now in effect are practically worthless because so many of their limitations have been held improper by the courts. The shipper seldom reads the bill he receives; in case

DOES IT MAKE YOU SICK TO KISS?

Dr. Knapp Tells Charities Congress It Does

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 16.—Kissing is a bad thing for the race, it is resulting in disease and death, and therefore must go.

This fact has been brought into the blaze of light before the National conference of Charities and Correction meeting here.

It fell to a German to place a public stigma on the gentle art of kissing. Dr. S. A. Knopf, a German scientist who has been lecturing before the conference on care of public health, has pilloried osculation in any and all forms.

TAFT WANTS AN ISSUE

His tour as an Understudy Has Made No Hit

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—It transpires that Secretary Taft is to quit as the administration candidate and seek the presidency on his own hook. The role he is playing has been found to be an unpopular one. The west, where he is now, wants a candidate with issues of his own, not an understudy. Taft may make the Tariff reduction his slogan. Western states have received his visit with a luke-warmness discouraging to the war secretary.

FISHES UP BODY OF ROSA WRIGHT

ED HANSON, FISHING, MAKES A GREUSOME FIND

RECOGNITION IS IMPOSSIBLE

Corpse Badly Decomposed and Features are Shrunk and Blackened —Kin Notified by Police

Ed Hanson, aged 17, residing at 101 Ferry street, fished up the body of Mrs. Rose Wright just below Colman's old mill site at 10 o'clock this morning, while fishing. The body is so badly decomposed and blackened that identification is almost impossible. The corpse was taken to Miller Bros.' undertaking establishment and will be buried at once at the expense of the county unless Onalaska relatives take charge of the funeral.

Mrs. Wright was drowned with William Van Camp while skiff riding on a windy Sunday, May 12th.

Van Camp's body was found at the mouth of Running slough.

Evidently the body of the woman had become caught upon a snag on the bottom, as the clothing was nearly all torn off, when the corpse was recovered. Only a corset and torn parts of her other clothing were left upon the remains.

The police have notified relatives in Onalaska of the finding of the body that they may have an opportunity to dispose of the remains. She has three brothers in Onalaska, Bert, John and Charles Schilling, and one sister, Mrs. L. Thorp.

Sensational and almost incredible as this statement may appear, there is no doubt of its accuracy.

STARVE THE TRAMPS

Railroad Magnates to Reform Them by Hunger

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 17.—Following the report that some eastern sociologist proposes to reclaim the tramps for honest labor through hypnotic suggestion, comes the discovery that "Jim" Hill, Harriman, McCrea and Baer, railroad magnates, have adopted the more materialistic scheme of starving them to work. They will attempt to keep them off trains, to secure the abolition of cheap lodging in municipalities, and will disseminate literature urging house wives not to feed them. The only alternative for the "bums," they say, will be to work.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO ARRANGE DETAIL

PLANS MADE FOR MONSTER DELEGATION THURSDAY

BRASS BAND TO BE TAKEN

General Public Is Expected to Attend and Crowd of Two or Three Hundred Should Go.

At the special meeting of the Manufacturers' and Jobbers' union held Saturday night, committees were appointed to arrange for the junket to Spring Grove, in honor of the Spring Grove Homecoming, next Thursday, June 20th.

It is proposed to make this the most successful event of the kind which has ever been pulled off by the La Crosse Manufacturers' and Jobbers' union, and the Board of Trade and on this account the matter is being taken well in hand early.

A special train will be provided which will leave the Vine street depot at 8:30 a. m. and will leave Spring Grove returning to La Crosse at 7 p. m. A full brass band, and large banners, as well as the customary ribbons will inform the residents of Spring Grove that La Crosse is there.

Committees who will have charge of the arrangements are A. W. Bryant and Robert Calvert for the Jobbers and Manufacturers, and Thomas Stavrum, Charles B. Gesell, W. E. Barber, A. A. Bentley, C. P. Thompson and L. Lavake for the Board of Trade.

Tickets and publicity will be attended to by W. E. Barber, A. A. Bentley was delegated to secure a band, and Robert Calvert was appointed to arrange for the special train.

Special efforts will be made in this excursion to make it popular with the general public, and all citizens especially the ladies are urged to attend if possible. A fare of two dollars for the round trip has been secured.

Tickets willy be sold for the excursion in advance, in the same manner as for the Rushford excursion. It is expected that three hundred at least will be secured who will take the trip.

Made One Mistake.

The excursionists who went to Rushford found they made a great mistake by not taking along a band and determined not to go on another trip without this inspiring addition to the personnell. Hence the work among the manufacturers and Jobbers today by A. A. Bentley of the committee for a subscription to pay for the band. Half of the money had been raised this afternoon and sufficient wil be donated tomorrow night to pay for the full band.

LEAPS FROM DEATH

Another Fatal Accident Is Averted at Depot

Another fatal accident was averted by a narrow margin Saturday evening at the North side Milwaukee depot where Miss Mayme Nesler was killed a few hours previously, when John Gibson, a newsboy, walked out upon the track, and was nearly run down by an incoming train.

Train No. 5 was pulling into the station and Gibson left the depot with the others, backing onto the track. Shouts of bystanders caused him to leap to the side, and the cylinder heads of the big locomotive missed striking him by a margin of an inch.

Saturday seemed a day for accidents and narrow escapes, a report being brought to the city, also, of a narrow escape of a woman and two children at West Salem, by the same train which killed Miss Nesler.

The woman and children were crossing the track just ahead of the train and barely escaped being struck by the locomotive.

Some Shift in Catching Department Likely

A change of some sort is made necessary on the La Crosse club because of the number of men being held at present. Some shift will be made, and this will likely come in the catching department. This too heavy, and one of the men will be disposed of in some manner. Whether it will be Killian or Moore is a question. There must be at least four men in the pitching department so no change is anticipated there. The staff is complete now with Hastings back. Whether Netolicky will be held depends on the showing he makes.

BADGER BOYS MAKE A HIT

GIRLS AT POUGHKEEPSIE LIKE DUCK SUITS AND RED TIES

QUIET SUNDAY IS SPENT

Witte's Hand Is Still Sore, but He Will Be in the Boat Today for Practice

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 17.—After a week of training, the Wisconsin boys enjoyed a quiet Sunday. In the morning all hands went to church. Some attended the Congregational church, others the Presbyterian, while others went to St. Mary's. After dinner a few of the boys went to Highland and laid around the boat house, while others went to Vassar college. The day was the hottest of the year and the big fellows seemed to enjoy the rest.

Witte's hand is very sore today, one of the blisters on the palm having broken, but he says that it will not stop him from being in his seat when the boys begin another week's hard work. Wherever the Badgers go they are the cynosure of all eyes. Yesterday afternoon as they returned from their boat house and got aboard the ferryboat Brinkerhoff, the boat was packed with young girls, men and women, and at once the members of the crew were the center of attraction. All were attired in heavy white duck suits and natty red knotted scarfs were at their throats. They made a neat appearance and the eyes of many a girl were cast rapurously in their direction.

THE DOPE BOX

Same teams today and Wednesday. Tuesday is an off day.

—o—

Some sense to a game like yesterday. You should have seen the fans wiping the prespiration from their brows.

—o—

"Red" was tapped on the knee cap by a foul ball in the sixth inning, and was compelled to roll around in the dirt for a few minutes.

—o—

Bond has developed into a contortionist. He gave an exhibition in the third inning yesterday when making a difficult catch of a foul ball.

—o—

Hotten brought forth a laugh when he came to bat in the seventh inning with men on second and third. He tapped the rubber with his bat viciously, spat on his hands, looked at the back fence, and then struck out.

—o—

Baillies almost punctured Hooker in the eighth inning, sticking one under the dumuntire's short ribs and driving all the wind from under his belt. The little fellow went to his knees, but came up at the count.

—o—

Eddie Konetchy did a little swatting yesterday, finishing with an average of 1.000. He was up twice and secured a single and double.

—o—

Netolicky, the new man, was used in the game, playing right field. He didn't have a fielding chance, but out of twice up drew a nice single.

—o—

The fans had the first opportunity of seeing Hazel work with the champs. The ex-Oshkosher had five chances without a bobble and made a hit.

—o—

An umpire has arrived in the great city of La Crosse. His name is Hayes, plain Hayes. To see him work and compare him with the other misfits seen here this year, is a pleasure. When he says "ball t—u," "str——ike" and "your out," it is a case of laugh. He is complete master of the field at all times, has the commanding appearance and yet is jolly and good natured with the players and spectators. There wasn't the least kind of a kick coming at any one time in the game yesterday. A few more like Mr. Hayes would be appreciated.

—o—

Bond started off a run in the eighth inning by making a great stop of a bad throw to third by Moore.

—o—

Hooker was kept busy early in the game retiring the champs on strikes. In the first four innings he struck out two men in each. Moore and Cahill hit the ozone twice each.

—o—

Burke, the big first sacker of the Lynch bunch, is a La Crosse boy, and was given a hearty ovation when he stepped to the plate the first time.

—o—

Manager Lynch shifted his men a little in the fifth inning, taking the short field himself. Velnar was sent to the bench.

—o—

Think of a player making two three base hits in one inning. That is what Cahill did Saturday. A total of nine swats for 11 runs must have been terrible to witness.

—o—

The champs played an errorless game at Eau Claire, backing up "Bumpus" in great shape. Jones has now won 8 games and lost two.

We needn't worry about who is going to plant flowers on our graves. Lots of people would do it gladly, no doubt.

BIDS REFERRED BACK

Council Puts It Up to the Committee to Solve It

Bids for the heating plant of the Tenth Ward school for the construction of a new bridge over the lagoon in Pettibone park, referred to the council, were referred back to the committee.

The estimate prepared by Architect Wells E. Bennett is $6,500 for the heating plant. The lowest bid was that of the Baker & Neibuhr company, $1,800 above the estimate. The contractors say that the work cannot be done within the estimate figures.

Five firms entered bids for the bridge contract and all of those were above the estimate of $4,000 made by the city engineer. The lowest bid was $1,500 above this figure.

THREE INVITATIONS

Grocers Favor Prairie du Chien for Picnic

Secretary Harry Taggart of the La Crosse Retail Grocers' association, has three places in sight for the annual picnic of the asociation to be held in July. Prairie du Chien, Lanesboro and Alma have invited the association to held the picnic in their cities, but as yet no decision has been made. The proposition of Prairie du Chien is the best one received. The Business Men's association there promises much entertainment to the members and will make ample arrangements for a large crowd. The association picnic usually draws out about 600 people. The picnic will be held either on the 17th or 18th.

(By Lefty.)

Our blue ribbon athletes with the stamp of champs on their sox, manipulated things in a great manner at League park yesterday afternoon, pulling off some beautiful stunts while Mr. Frank Baillies was laying on a thick layer of whitewash over Lynch and his proteges from Eau Claire, and pocketed the first game of the series with a lone tally. A 1 to 0 score always indicates a first class game, but in this particular performance with the hide and the hickory there was more of the sensational than usual, the entire nine innings thrilling with trying situations which kept the heat sweltering fans in a state of excitement at all periods. There was a monster crowd out to enjoy the long delayed heat and the pleasure of the game, and they got both the heat and the pleasure.

One mistake of judgment by one Hooker, in one inning, the fourth, brought the one run of the game which won one of the nicest disputes seen here this year. In the inning aforesaid Mr. Bond led off with a clean single to left and made second when Velnar failed to stop a hit. Our friend Bond was placed on third by the terrible Konetchy, who choked his stick and sacrificed. Mr. Hooker started to draw out of the hole by striking out Cahill, and would have drawn out entirely on the next play, but didn't. With two men down and a man on third Medwtzky hit to Hooker. The little twirler had hours of time to head off Med, but got muddled at the opportune time trying to catch Bond who darted back to third and was pocketed on the path. After much dodging and tossing of the ball in a frantic effort to catch Bond, O'Leary made a bad fling over Stange's head and the run which won the game came over the platter.

Exciting Moments

As for Mr. Baillies and his flinging, it can be stated that he endeared himself to the fanatic populate in a manner never to be forgotten. For six innings he held those tigers hitless, innings when they didn't have any more show to score than Tommy Burns has of whipping Bill Squires. His work was superb. The visitors secured two hits, all in a bunch in the seventh innings, and had a real chance to score the only time of the game.

It was at this time, however, that the champs played big league ball, head work by "Red" Moore developing a play which was the real stuff. After the two hits and a sacrifice had placed men on second and third with only one out Hotten came to bat. By some method of mind transition "Red" received the knowledge that a squeeze play was going to be tried. He signaled for a wide one at the proper moment and Hotten had to strike. Moore turned with the ball, dashed down the third base line and the runner from third was bagged, labeled and sent to the bench. Hotten then struck out and the danger was past.

The battle was one of the pitchers, Hooker being in fine shape also, allowing only six scattered hits.

Saturday's Game

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., June 17.—It was a shame the way La Crosse treated the home team here Saturday in the final game of the series. Jones of the visitors was a veritable tightwad when it came to letting in scores and while his team mates, and he himself included, were going crazy altogether with the stick he daubed a neat coat of whitewash over the Eau Claire aggregation. The final score was 12 to 0.

It was a well played game on both sides in spite of the great diversity in the relative scores and heavy stick work is what was responsible for the big score.

Esselburn started in to do the flinging for the locals and up to the seventh twirled a fine game, only two hits being secured off him in that time. But in the seventh he got into the balloon, cut all the ropes and threw out all the ballast and made a beautiful ascension. And this was the way he ascended. Cahill, being first to bat, signalized his appearance by smiting the pill heavily over Russ Bailey's head. Russ, contrary to his usual custom, misjudged it and started to run up on it and when it was too late went back, but it went far over him and Cahill thereby was credited with a three base swat. Then came Medwizky, and not to be outdone, tickled the ball for two sacks worth and Cahill of course scored. "Red" Moore bunted and Essie picked up the ball and threw it to third to give Med a quick demise but was too late and everybody was safe. On a wild pitch Med scored and Moore went to third. Killian was kindly allowed to perambulate and when Hazel flied out to Velner, Moore scored on the throw to the plate. Then Pitcher Jones bingled to left and Killian scored. Vogt followed with a beautiful bunt along the third base line and Bond singled to left and Jones was thrown out at the home plate. Essie was getting a little weary of all this and gave Konetchy a base on balls and all stations were filled. It looked as though the visitors were going to keep up their slug-fest forever so Speiser was sent in to perform the twirling. It should be remarked at this point that the visitors had batted during the inning and Cahill, the first man up in the inning, had swatted out a three bagger, was up again and facing Speiser. He did not wait long for he hit the capsule a mighty swat for three sacks again and Vogt, Bond and Konetchy scored. Moore dittoed and Killian was safe at first when he grounded to Graves and Burke dropped the throw to first, Medwtzky scoring on the play and Moore going to third. Killian stole second and he and Moore scored on Hazel's single. Jones, out of sheer pity flied out to Burke, and retired the side.

There was nothing doing after this and Speiser held the champs safe during the last two innings.

NEW PONTOON BRIDGE

Work Going Forward Slowly at Wabasha

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company is not rushing the work on its new pontoon bridge at a very rapid gait says the Wabasha Standard. W. H. Chadwick, who has charge of the work, says that the material is not arriving as fast as they need it and the kind they should get first is delayed on the road. The general public is perhaps not aware of the great amount of material that is required to build this bridge. It will take nearly 275,000 feet of lumber, making thirty carloads. The hardware, iron, nails, bolts, rods and other iron used will require eight carloads and the cost in round numbers is about 50,000. The size of the bridge is 396 feet long by forty feet wide.

STATE BOARD TO MEET TOMORROW

DR. JORRIS LEAVES FOR CREAM CITY TO ATTEND

WILL EXAMINE THE "MEDICS"

Hundred and Fifty to Appear Before the Examiners; Legislature May Change Meeting Date.

Dr. A. U. Jorris, the local member of the Wisconsin Board of Medical examiners left yesterday for Milwaukee to attend a spical meeting of the board at the Plankinton hotel which opens Tuesday morning. The annual meeting of the board is held the second Tuesday in July, but in order that the graduates of Wisconsin medical colleges may take examinations as soon as school is closed a special meeting was called. It is probable that the legislature will change the meeting date of the board to the middle of June for their benefit.

In the important work that will come up is the examining of about 150 students, discussion of laws that are before the legislature in respect to medical works. Election of officers will probably be held Tuesday. The board expects to close its session Thursday and Dr. Jorris will be home next Friday.

WESTWARD, HO! SPRING GROVE

Their experience at the Rushford celebration has apparently been pleasant to the ' siness men of La Crosse.

It witness whereof is the enthusisatic preparation for a similar visit to Spring Grove on the occasion of the home-coming week of that enterprising city. It will be a splendid entertainment, and from it there is apt to come personal relationtionships and enjoyable friendships of life-long duration.

One great advantage is presented by these excursions into Minnesota. There has been a natural tendency for La Crosse, a Wisconsin city, to place relatively lesser estimates upon the importance of the cities beyond the river than upon those of equal size and thrift here in our own state. That is an utterly unsupportable idea, for the river is but an arbitrary boundary. La Crosse is the center of a circle whose radii sweep as far over the fertile acres of Minnesota as they do over the equally wealthy areas of Wisconsin. Gopher beef and Badger beef, Gopher cities and Badger cities, are not distinguishable for any other than purely geographical conditions, a fact that these excursions is demonstrating to the people of La Crosse.

THE TRIBUNE hopes to see a great crowd on that excursion train to Spring Grove. We know it as a splendid, enterprising and intelligent community, acquaintance with which must contribute pleasure and advantage to La Crosse.

MUNICIPAL ADVERTISING

Does municipal advertising pay?

La Crosse wants to know, because La Crosse is seriously considering a project to engage in the systematic advertisement of its advantages.

St. Paul is just getting a municipal advertising campaign under full headway, and here is what the St. Paul Pioneer Press says about it:

"The benefits of a systematic, expertly conducted advertising campaign such as St. Paul is preparing to conduct make their appearance from the start. Every other city is bound to advertise a city that advertises itself. The very fact that a city's business men are alert and aggressive enough to undertake to raise a large sum of money for a broad scheme of advertising the advantages of their home town cannot but attract widespread attention. Among energetic business men in other cities such a campaign begun elsewhere is commenuted on as an indication of enterprise, of public spirit, of the cohesiveness of business men for a common end and of the enthusiasm and local pride. In business circles everywhere the wideawake aggressiveness of the community which advertises is talked about. Newspapers in scores of communities take up the matter and preach from it as a text to the people of their own communities.

"And all this has already happened in the case of our own advertising campaign although that undertaking is not yet fully organized for work. St. Paul is being talked about and is being advertised even by those who have no interest in its progress. Various papers in this and other states have had articles from a quarter to two columns in length describing what St. Paul purposes to do and urging their own communities to go and do likewise.

"In short, even before it has done a line of outside advertising St. Paul gets a reputation as a wide-awake, pushing community whose business men know how to pull together. And that is the kind of community in which live business men like to be identified. St. Paul has not been asleep for a long time but it has not before taken any systematic steps to let the rest of the country see what it is, what it is donig, the strides it is taking or the opportunities which it has to offer. It has waited for others to toot its horn. But others will not indulge in that exercise until after it has done a good deal of tooting on its own account. The city which does not advertise is like the merchant who does not advertise. Its stock in trade may be of the best but very few are going to discover that fact for themselves."

STREET CAR MANNERS.

The Chicago Tribune recites the facts appertaining to some rather interesting incidents relative to "manners" of street car employes. It says::

"The verdict of $750 damages against a New York street car company employing a rude conductor—he called a passenger 'a poor bum'—will serve as an admonition to other companies. It has been judicially decided that such a corporation is as much responsible to the public for the behavior of its employes as for their skill and judgment. If an empolye causes an accident through carelessness or unfitness for the work assigned him the company must pay for personal injuries caused thereby. If a passenger is insulted the company is equally responsible for the mental discomfort occasioned.

"Another New York court has made a curious distinction, holding that a hotel keeper is not responsible for the conduct of his employes. One dissenting justice points out that this is contrary to reason and rests entirely upon an English decision of 300 years ago which is not applicable at the present day. Other courts will probably not follow this decision. In this case the room of a woman staying at a hotel was invaded by drunken employes of the hotel and she was greatly frightened and distressed. The court held, in effect, that she might have the rowdies arrested, but that she could not recover damages from the proprietor of the hotel. Yet it was the fact of their employment by the hotel which gave them the opportunity to commit their offense, and the proprietor should have exercised greater caution and not have employed in his building men who could not be trusted to respect the privacy of his guests."

Street car companies, as well as other public service concerns, should everywhere regard this as pertinent. There is always the natural bias against public ultities, and nothing serves more effectually to justify complaint and assure permanancy of the bad repute that, whether deservedly or undeservedly, tends to cling to them, than does the impertinent and unaccommodating employe.

It is difficult to keep close enough tab on the workmen to assure the public of entire immunity from insolence of employes, but it is probable that misconduct of this sort is resented fully as much by the managements of the companies as it is by the affronted patrons. As business men those engaged in directing the operation of public service lines know the value of popular good will, and in cases of this kind, in which the companies have nothing to gain by abuse of petty authority, and something to lose by it, they cannot fairly be suspected of sympathy with coarse or impundent conduct of the men.

The La Crosse Street Railway company has, in the main, been particularly fortunate in securing and retaining the services of cheerful and accommodating men. There are one or two notable "grouches" still employed, but they are "old timers" with the company, and their retention is probably due to sentiment. In the cases refered to it is more sour dispositions than wanton incivility, but the wisdom of the company has been shown by the placing of these exceptionable men on "the head end," where they have little opportunity to be unpleasant. As a whole, the conductors of the La Crosse traction company are the finest fellows in the world, always agreeable, always accommodating.

AS TO "IMMUNITY BATHS"

Taking up Mr. Bryan's aspersion of the motives of President Roosevelt in his decision that Harriman is immune from prosecution, the Milwaukee Sentinel says:

"Commenting on the so-called "immunity bath" for Mr. Harriman, the Commoner rather slurringly says that 'it has been decided at a White house conference that Mr. Harriman 'is immune from criminal prosecution as a result of his testimony before the interstate commerce commision.' That provides the cheapest method yet suggested of avoiding prosecution.'

"But does the Commoner imagine or mean to insinuate, that those White house conferences were lukewarm about prosecuting Mr. Harriman, or at all disposed to give him the benefit of any doubt as to the legal feasibility of proceeding against him criminally?

"Mr. Bryan'ss paper must know that the men at that conference, and especially its chief figure, were just as keen to prosecute Mr. Harriman as Mr. Bryan himself could have been.

"However it may have been with the similar case of Mr. Paul Morton, there certainly was no whitewash used in this conferense. The law forbade the criminal prosecution of any man on evidence furnished by himself, or, in other words, 'No person * * * 'shall be compelled, in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself.'

"Besides, it may have been felt that it would hardily do to make fish out of Mr. Morton and flesh of Mr. Harriman."

The Sentinel voices a thought that must have occured to pretty nearly everybody who read Mr. Bryan's criticism. It is probable that the case is even stronger than the Milwaukee paper puts it, and that President Roosevelt was more in earnest about finding a way to deal adequate punishment than is Mr. Bryan.

In the reflection of the Sentinel concerning Mr. Morton there is opened up a vast field of speculation as to whether, in that case, personal friendship did not operate to appease the presidente's desire for a "square deal." Paul Morton is one of the unpleasant little deficiencies in the administration of Theodore Roosevelt.

Russia is still the home of despotism and anarchy. There are bloody times coming in that ill-fated realm whose character is well indicated by the assertion of its representative, speaking as president of the national peace congress, that disarmament is impossible. To Russia disarmament IS impossible, but dismemberment is not.

PAPERS' FIGHT IN CHICAGO

The hearing in the case of the Chicago American, Examiner, Record-Herald and Daily News, which are charged with conspiracy to boycott, the Tribune and with an unlawful combination to advance the price of Sunday papers from five to seven cents, has been adjourned until June 17.

Frank B. Noyes, publisher of the Record-Herald, who is one of the defendants, says that the Tribune and the Examiner had a fight over country circulation. The Record-Herald was forced to choose between the agents of one or the other of its warring neighbors in the various towns, or establishing agencies of its own.

It preferred not to take the latter course, and as the dealers handling the Examiner seemed to be stronger than those handling the Tribune, the Record-Herald joined forces with them. It issued the following letter

"As you are aware, the leading

As you are aware, the leading Chicago newspapers have for some time followed the policy of employing as their point representatives a single whosale dealer in certain large towns or cities. Recently an unfortunate controversy has arisen between the Tribune and Examiner over the sale of their Sunday editions. In this controversy the Record-Herald has had no part beyond endeavoring to keep peace between the contending parties."

"The Record-Herald has had no part in the controversy now; but its interests are threatened by the extreme measures to which the two newspapers mentioned are resorting. It has come to our knowledge that each of these papers is endeavoring to make contracts with the wholesale dealers now or heretofore representing all the Chicago papers, by which contracts these dealers are made to agree to exclude from their sales either the Tribune or the Examiner.

This means that there will be at least two wholesale dealers in each locality, and three of the Record-Herald were to select a third. The Record-Herald believes it will not be to its business interest to follow this policy and it also believes that the merits of the original controversy between the Tribune and the Examiner were on the side of the Examiner.

We have carefully considered the entire situation and have decided to adopt the general policy that where terms and conditions are substantially equal the Record-Herald will employ the wholesale dealer who handles the Examiner. In announcing this decision we are influenced solely by the necessity for protecting the interests of the Record-Herald and correcting misleading statements as to our position in a quarrel with which we are not otherwise concerned."

Mr. Noyes says he is unable to se how the action of the Record-Herald can be called a conspiracy, or how it in any way violates the law.

A Spacescape.

Beside the white mysterious sea
Of cryptic Xanadu,
My Sophie walked abroad with me
To rubber at the view.

"We've never seen a view like this!"
Cried Sophie—"My, oh my!"
And really 'twas a view, I wis,
To catch a lady's eye.

There was no sun or moon to heed,
No clouds went sailing by,
No stars were in the sky—indeed,
There wasn't any sky.

Our eyes fell on no hills or trees,
No stand or turf was there,
And all the landscape, if you please,
Consisted just of air.

We did not firmly tread the ground—
The ground to tread was not—
And how we two could get around
I really have forgot.

No other tourists, rich or poor,
Were in sight anywhere—
Indeed I am not very sure
That even we were there.

Her Boston Training.

Virge Byram, manager of some sawmill at Monarch, Colo., was in the city yesterday. Last summer Mr. Bryam entertained a lot of people, most of them relatives of his, up at the mills. Among them was a young lady from Boston. This summer he expects most of them back again. He again invited the young woman from the Hub, and several days ago he received a letter from her accepting the invitation.

"Dear Mr. Byram," the letter said, "I shall be delighted to journey westward and join the party which is to sojourn at your mills again this summer. I have a queer ambition, Mr. Byram. It is to kill a Robert cat. I am going to bring a fine little 22 calibre revolver, and if you find it possible to let me shoot a Robert cat I shall be deeply indebted to you. Yours, etc."

"She evidently means that she wants to kill a bobcat," said Mr. Byram, "and her Boston training makes her say Robert."—Denver Post.

NO COMMERCIAL WAR.

(Chicago Tribune.)

One of the belligerent Tokio newspapers says that it does not want the Japanese government to declare war on the United States, but do adopt a policy of "commercial retaliation." It professes to believe that such a policy would compel this country to suppress the California hoodlums who throw stones at Japanese restaurants and green houses.

The advice will be rejected by the Japanese government. It does not wish for war of any kind. It is endeavoring to enlarge the area of Japanese commerce in every direction, for it is only by adding to the resources and wealth of the country that it will be enabled to bear with ease the burden of debt it now carries. A commercial war would be suicidal, especially one with as good a customer as the United States.

During the nine months ended March last, Japan bought of the United States goods valued at $28,700,000, while this country took $56,800,000 worth of Japanese products. Manifestly Japan would be the loser by commercial hostilities.

During the nine months in question, Japanese raw silk and silk goods valued at nearly $39,000,000 and tea valued at $5,800,000 were imported. If it were necessary the United States could buy its teas and silks elsewhere. Japan cannot get in another quarter the $10,000,000 worth of American raw cotton it purchased.

There is no reason to fear hostilities of any kind with Jaapn. Its government cannot be coerced by newspaper aricles. Probably there will be no more fierce articles, for the newspaper men of Tokio have been officially advised ont to print any matter of an inflammatory nature about the American question. While the Japanese press is to be mussled, and the voice of the Japanese jingo will not offend the ears of nervous Americans, it would be a relief to the Japanese government if the municipal authorities of San Francisco would occasionally catch and punish some rough who has attacked the person or property of a Japanese resident of that city. Persistent failure to do that has fed the flames of newspaper wrath at Tokio.

The Great Alaskan Story

She wrung her hands. "That's what uncle feared before we left Seattle. That's why I took the risks I did in bringing you those papers. I thought you got them in time to avoid all this."

Struve laughed a bit, eying her curiously.

"Does Uncle Arthur know about this?" she continued.

"No, we don't let him know anything more than necessary; he's not a strong man."

"Yes, yes. He's not well." Again the lawyer smiled. "Who is behind this Vigilante movement?"

"We think it is Glenister and his New Mexican bandit partner. At least they got the crowd together." She was silent for a time.

"I suppose they really think they own those mines."

"Undoubtedly."

"But they don't, do they?" Somehow this question had recurred to her insistently of late, for things were constantly happening which showed there was more back of this great, fierce struggle than she knew. It was impossible that injustice had been done the mine-owners, and yet scattered talk reached her which was puzzling. When she strove to follow it up, her acquaintances adroitly changed the subject. She was baffled on every side. The three local newspapers upheld the court. She read them carefully, and was more at sea than ever. There was a disturbing undercurrent of alarm and unrest that caused her to feel insecure, as though standing on hollow ground.

"Yes, this whole disturbance is caused by those two. Only for them we'd be all right."

"Who is Miss Malotte?"

He answered, promptly: "The handsomest woman in the North, and the most dangerous."

"In what way? Who is she?"

"It's hard to say who or what she is—she's different from other women. She came to Dawson in the early days—just came—we didn't know how, whence, or why, and we never found out. We woke up one morning and there she was. By night we were all jealous, and in a week we were most of us driveling idiots. It might have been the mystery or, perhaps, the competition. That was the day when a dance-hall girl could make a homestake in a winter or marry a millionaire in a month, but she never bothered. She toiled not, neither did she spin on the waxed floors, yet Solomon in all his glory would have looked like a tramp beside her."

"You say she is dangerous?"

"Well, there was the young nobleman, in the winter of '98, Dane, I think—fine family, and all that—big, yellow-haired boy. He wanted to marry her, but a faro-dealer shot him. Then there was Rock, of the mounted police, the finest officer in the service. He was cashiered. She knew he was going to pot for her, but she didn't seem to care—and there were others. Yet, with it all, she is the most generous person and the most tender-hearted. Why, she has fed every 'stew bum' on the Yukon, and there isn't a busted prospector in the country who wouldn't swear by her, for she has grubstaked dozens of them. I was horribly in love with her myself. Yes, she's dangerous, all right—to everybody but Glenister."

"What do you mean?"

"She had been across the Yukon to nurse a man with scurvy, and coming back she was caught in the spring break-up. I wasn't there, but it seems this Glenister got her ashore somehow when nobody else would tackle the job. They were carried five miles down-stream in the ice-pack before he succeeded."

"What happened then?"

"She fell in love with him, of course."

"And he worshipped her as madly as all the rest of you, I suppose," she said scornfully.

"That's the peculiar part. She hypnotized him at first, but he ran away, and I didn't hear of him again till I came to Nome. She followed him, finally, and last week evened up her score. She paid him back for saving her."

"I haven't heard about it."

He detailed the story of the gambling episode at the Northern saloon, and concluded: "I'd like to have seen that 'turn,' for they say the excitement was terrific. She was keeping cases, and at the finish slammed her case-keeper shut and declared the bet off because she had made a mistake. Of course they couldn't dispute her, and she stuck to it. One of the by-standers told me she lied, though."

"So, in addition to his other vices, Mr. Glenister is a reckless gambler, is he?" said Helen, with heat. "I am proud to be indebted to such a character. Truly this country breeds wonderful species."

"There's where you're wrong," Struve chuckled. "He's never been known to bet before."

"Oh, I'm tired of these contradictions!" she cried, angrily. "Saloons, gambling-halls, scandals, adventuresses! Ugh! I hate it! I hate it! Why did I ever come here?"

"I must ask you to excuse me now, for it's late and I am very tired."

The clock showed half-past twelve, so, after letting him out, she extinguished the lights and dragged herself wearily up to her room. She removed her outer garments and threw over her bare shoulders a negligee of many flounces and bewildering, clinging looseness. As she took down her heavy braids, the story of Cherry Malotte returned to her tormentingly. So Glenister had saved her life also at risk of his own. What a very gallant cavalier he was, to be sure! He should bear a coat of arms—a dragon, an armed knight, and a fainting maiden. "I succor ladies in distress—handsome ones," should be the motto on his shield. "The handsomest woman in the North," Struve had said. She raised her eyes to the glass and made a mouth at the petulant, tired reflection there. She pictured Glenister leaping from floe to floe with the hungry river surging and snapping at his feet, while the cheers of the crowd on shore gave heart to the girl crouching out there. She could see him snatch her up and fight his way back to safety over the plunging ice-cakes with death dragging at his heels. What a strong embrace he had! At this she blushed and realized with a shock that while she was mooning that very man might be fighting hand to hand in the darkness of a mountain-gorge with the man she was going to marry.

A moment later some one mounted the front steps below and knocked sharply. Truly this was a night of alarms. Would people never cease coming? She was worn out, but at the thought of the tragedy abroad and the sick old man sleeping near by, she lit a candle and slipped down-stairs to avoid disturbing him. Doubtless it was some message from McNamara, she thought, as she unchained the door.

As she opened it, she fell back amazed while it swung wide and the candle flame flickered and sputtered in the night air. Roy Glenister stood there, grim and determined, his soft, white Stetson pulled low, his trousers tucked into tan half-boots, in his hand a Winchester rifle. Beneath his corduroy coat she saw a loose cartridge-belt, yellow with shells, and the nickelled flash of a revolver. Without invitation he strode across the threshold, closing the door behind him.

"Miss Chester, you and the Judge must dress quickly and come with me."

"I don't understand."

"The Vigilantes are on their way here to hang him. Come with me to my house where I can protect you."

She laid a trembling hand on her bosom and the color died out of her face, then at a slight noise above they both looked up to see Judge Stillman leaning far over the banister. He had wrapped himself in a dressing-gown and now gripped the rail convulsively, while his features were blanched to the color of putty and his eyes were wide with terror, though puffed and swollen from sleep. His lips moved in a vain endeavor to speak.

WAR IS STARTED ON FREE LUNCHES

ST. PAUL LIQUOR LEALERS SAY SUNDAY LAWS COMPEL IT

THE RESTAURANTS OBJECT

Next Legislature Will be Asked to Make the Sunday Laws Less Stringent

ST. PAUL, Minn.,, June 17.—A new ordinance to prevent serving free lunches in saloons was favored at the meeting of the St. Paul Retail Liquor Dealers' association held to discuss the new order to close saloons Sundays. A committee was appointed to lay the matter before the city council.

The committee will take the position that the abolition of free lunches is made necessary by the Sunday closing which has cut off one-fourth of the saloon trade. It will be argued that it is necessary to compel all saloonkeepers in the city to stop serving free lunches, as that is the only way in which concerted action can be secured. There are many retail liquor establishments in the city whose proprietors are not members of the association, and even among its own members the association would have hard work in securing unanimous compliance with a voluntary arrangement of that kind.

Hope to Have Law Changed

A number of the saloonkeepers said that they would obey the Sunday closing law until it could be changed. It was hoped that at the next meeting of the legislature the law would be modified in such a way as to allow the opening of back dors of saloons on Sundays, provided the front doors closed and the curtains drawn.

She was aroused about 3 a. m., to find two masked men rummaging about in the room. Reaching under her pillow, the woman seized her revolver and attempted to shoot, but the bandits had detected her move and were too quick for her. One of them snatched the pistol from her hand, while the other choked her into insensibilty, at the same time threatening her with death if she made an outcry.

Minister of Gospel Is Under Arrest for Counterfeit

SPRINGFIELD, Il., June 17.—A federal grand jury Saturday night returned an indictment against Rev. James R. Kaye, formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and now editor of the Home Herald, published at Oak Park, a suburb of Chicago, charging him with manufacturing counterfeit money.

Molds for the manufacture of counterfeit dimes, quarters, half dollars and dollars were found in the basement of the house which the Rev. Kaye occupied while pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Lincoln.

When arrested he confessed to making the molds, but explained that he was only experimenting with them to see if he could manufacture medals to be presented to the children of the Sunday school as rewards for getting new pupils for the school.

C. C. KING GETS HIS

South Dakota Bank Wrecker Draws Five Years

PIERRE, S. D., June 17.—Charles C. King, the Scotland (S. D.) bank wrecker, in the United States court entered a plea of guilty to twelve of the ninety-five counts against him and not guilty to the others. The counts on which he pleaded guilty consisted of false reports to the controller, misapplication of funds, drawing drafts without authority, false entry and abstracting of funds. On his plea the court sentenced him to a term of five years in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan.

King had lost his jaunty air when he came into court and when asked if he had anything to say as to why sentence should not be pronounced broke down completely. His attorney spoke for him, saying that his client committed all his actions with a hope of pulling the bank through on bad loans; that he did not secure a particle of personal benefit from any of the transactions, and that none of the money was used in speculation or gambling in any form, but all with a hope of saving the bank.

EVERYONE GETS A SEAT.

Opera Chairs are Also Furnished Patrons of Barnum & Bailey.

One of the announcements of the Barnum & Bailey circus that attracts particular attention is the statement that a seat is furnished every purchaser of a ticket for the big show. What this means need not be explained to anyone who recalls the discomfort and crowding attendant upon a visit to the ordinary circus.

"One important feature of the Barnum & Bailey seating plan," said an agent of the big show, "is the fact that every ticket issued, whether reserved or not, has a coupon. Where a seat is not reserved in advance, the admission coupon does not call for a specific seat, but entitles the holder to a certain section. Each of these sections has accomodations for a certain number of visitors, and as only sufficient tickets to fill them are sold, there is never any possibility of overcrowding.

"This reform in the seating arrangements of the show also extends to the higher-priced seats. Formerly, the reserved seat were nothing more than the orinary blue boards covered with a piece of carpet. Then came the crude slap-down seat, which is still retained by other shows. The Barnum & Bailey show has some of the slap-down seats, but they are of an improved pattern and are sold at an intermediate price. The best reserved numbered seats are modern, up-to-date, comfortable opera chairs, placed upon a platform so solidly and substantially constructed that a child could play hide and seek on it without danger of injury. The Barnum & Bailey circus is the one traveling show in the world that furnishes seats of this character, and while it means the employment of many more men to handle them and the utilization of several extra railway cars to carry the paraphernalia the cost has been more than justified.

"The management, moreover is not satisfied with merely providing comfortable reserved seats for its patrons. It has a system by which they can find their seats without difficulty, no matter how great the crowd may be. Large, plain signs, corresponding with the letters and numbers on the coupons, indicate the sections; while to still further expedite the seating of the audience, a large corps of ushers are utilized to direct the crowd and to personally show spectators their seats.

There is little doubt that those who witness the performance of the Barnum & Bailey circus when the big show exhibits in La Crosse July 4th, will have their enjoyment enhanced by the management's careful preparation for their comfort and safety. The show, it is announced, will present all the new features here just as seen in New York during the opening engagement of the season. These include the new and sensational Scandinavian Ski-Sailing act; "Dip of Death," the aerial automobile sensation; the "Two Twirls of Terror" in which mid-air somersaults are turned by daring wheelmen; the new "Peace" spectacle, and a long list of riding, gymnastic, aerial and trained animal novelties, including the Novellos' remarkable combined acrobatic and educated elephant, pony and dog act.

"You forget the pickings," said Andy in serious earnest. "The barkeepers down here tell each other that my till's the easiest one to work in New York."

REVIVAL OF WHEEL

Fad Seems to Be Taking on With the Public

There is a great deal of talk all over the country at the present time about a revival of interest in wheeling, and statements are being published that people who have not ridden a wheel for years are taking to the use of them again. In La Crosse so far this can hardly be said to be true, as there has not been any perceptible increase this spring in the number of devotees to the wheel. While the number of automobile users has gained considerably the bicyclists have kept at about the same number.

Outside of its use by children the wheel is now very largely in La Crosse used chiefly as a mean to an end, to facilitate speed and convenience in locomotion in connection with daily work, and comparatively in a very small degree for purposes of pleasure merely. It is estimated that there are not much more than half the number of wheels in use in La Crosse now that there were when the bicycling craze was at its height, and the bicycle paths were constructed. They have been out of service for some years now since the decline of interest in bicycling. In those days bicycle parties were quite the common thing ,but they are not much heard of now.

A Twin City writer, in telling about the revival of bicycling interest up there this spring says:

But the bicycle, it seems had a cycle all its own, and now, the revolution being complete, the wheel is being industriously rediscovered. And this is not merely a theory or a surmise. Makers report the largest sales they have had in ten years. Dealers say that the market is clear of job lots. Part manufacturers are busier than they have been in a decade, for the wheel is once more good form.

But suppose you haven't a wheel. Of course that doesn't seem possible; but in that case you will be glad to know that you can get more for your money than when you bought one ten years ago.

Did you ever enjoy a coaster brake in the older days? Do you know anything about the comfort of modern handle bars, or the late form of scientifically constructed saddles.

Perhaps you think they stopped improving the bicycle when you gave it up. As a matter of fact, the really big changes for the better have come in with the increased competition due to a temporarily diminishing market. The makers have learned a lot about bearing metals in the last few years and the bicycle has not only absorbed that information, but it is a better wheel in every respect, be it in tires, chains, crank hangers, fork crowns or dozens of smaller essentials, than it was in the fad days.

So there are reasons enough for any man or woman either. Get out the wheel again, and if its days of usefulness are really over, have a 1907 model at once. You will be in style either way, and your get-health quick dividends will be amazingly satisfactory.

GALESVILLE NEWS.

A number of La Crosse ministers with their wives and friends enjoyed a picnic here at Reception park. They were joined by a number of the citizens, who helped to make the occasion an enjoyable one.

Many from here attended the funeral of Fred T. Shrake at Trempealeau last Sunday.

Another of the old pioneers settlers has gone. This time in the person of Mrs. Emma L. Bunn, who died at her son's home at Westby on the 8th of cancer. She had been a sufferer a number of years and had done all that medical skill could do to baffle the disease, but no help was in store for her. The remains were brought here Monday for burial in the local cemetery. Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church conducted by Rev. Chapman. The members of the W. C. T. U. attended in a body. She came to Galesville in 1869 and was married to H. L. Bunn in 1872. Her husband and three children survive her.

One Thing We Distinctly Aim At

in this business is that every man who knows us, or who reads our ads, shall get the idea that this is the store for quality in merchandise.

We'd a good deal rather be known as the right place for good stuff, than as a place where you get low prices.

It's always easy to quote prices; but it's what the price buys that counts.

We sell Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes; and we want you to know it; we can't give you any better evidence of our quality standards than that; they're the best clothes made.

Whatever you buy here is good; we intend it to be.

SCHROEDER NEW WINONA MANAGER

TAKES CHARGE OF LIGHTING AND CAR COMPANY

OFFICIAL CHANGE JULY 1ST

New Man is Friend of W. J. Ferris, Water Power Co. and is Said to Be Expert

A. V. Schroeder, former general superintendent of the Springfield, Ill,. Railway and Light company, and, with W. J. Ferris, connected with the Illinois Traction company, has been selected as the new manager of the Winona Railway & Light company, now owned by the La Crosse Water Power company. He will take charge July 1st.

Official announcement is made that on the first of July the controlling interest in the Winona Railway Light company will be taken over by the La Crosse Water Power company, and that the water powe- being developed at Hatfield wil. go into Winona by the use of the franchise of the Winona Railway & Light company. It is said that there is no change in bondholders with the new issue of bonds guaranteed by the La Crosse Water Power company, but that they are held by the same persons who owned the first bonds, for which these have been issue as a substitute.

Contemplates Improvements.

The Winona Railway & Light company has several improvements in contemplation for this present season. One of the first of these to be undertaken will be double tracking on Center street. Since the completion of the East End loop a year ago this has been rendered advisable as two sets of cars now run over the Center street line, those on the main line and those on the East End loop. Having a double track would greatly facilitate operations along these two lines. This work must be taken up soon on account of the proposed macadamizing of Center street. If the track is to be laid it must be put down before the macadamizing is done.

Another contemplated improvement is the extension of the track at the West End out to the new League bayy park. At present persons going to this park have to walk about five blocks from the end of the car line to the park. The construction of this line would be somewhat expensive in view of the present high price and scarcity of steel, and to the further fact that over the low land it would be necessary for the company to make its own fill, the road there being hardly wide enough to permit of its use by street cars. A careful investigation in connection with this proposed extension is now being made.

RESIDENCE FIRE

The north side fire department was called Saturday afternoon to the home of William Kight, 1313 Wood street. A small blaze on the roof of the dwelling caused damage amounting to $150.

H. J. Johnson, who has been visiting friends in Stoddard, has returned to his home on the North Side.

WENT TO TEA
And It Wound Her Bobbin.

Tea drinking frequently affects people as badly as coffee. A lady in Salisbury, Md., says that she was compelled to abandon the use of coffee a good many years ago, because it threatened to ruin her health and that she went over to tea drinking, but finally, she had dyspepsia so bad that she had lost twenty-five pounds and no food seemed to agree with her.

She further says: "At this time I was induced to take up the famous food drink, Postum, and was so much pleased with the results that I have never been without it since. I commenced to improve at once, regained my twenty-five pounds of flesh and went some beyond my usual weight.

"I know Postum to be good, pure, and healthful, and there never was an article, and never will be, I believe, that does so surely take the place of coffee as Postum Food Coffee. The beauty of it all is that it is satisfying and wonderfully nourishing. I feel as if I could not sing its praises too loud." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

BATH BY DONATIONS

One Plan Suggested by North Side Enthusiasts

The majority of the agitators of a public bath for the North side are talking of starting a campaign to raise money for the installation of the bath by popular subscription.

This plan has met with favor by the majority of the people to whom it has been suggested, and in all probability, if the council will not appropriate the money this plan will be resorted to.

A number of the most prominent business men have signified their willingness to aid and it is thought that if the campaign is launched the money will come easy.

SHARPSHOOTERS ENTERTAIN CROWDS

MANY VISIT PARK DURING ANNUAL PICNIC

REFRESHMENTS ARE SERVED

Continuous Musical Concert Serves to Help Entertain Several Hundred Guests

Hundreds of people turned out yesterday to take part in the regular annual picnic of the La Crosse Sharpshooters' association which was held at the shooting park of West La Crosse.

During the entire day throngs of people kept coming to the park and when the telegraphic team shoot against Milwaukee was called at two o'clock, a crowd of several hundred people was assembled about the shooting box.

Despite the intense heat of the day, there was a fine breeze blowing over the park and the picnickers were reasonably comfortable. The shrooting park was in its usual fine summer condition, and there were many who visited the park to lie in the shade of the luxuriant trees, and keep cool.

Cooling beverages and refreshments, sandwiches of every kind, and confections were dispensed from several booths on the grounds and noth ing was lacking.

During the afternoon a brass band of fourteen pieces played a continuous concert, and the Frohsinn Singing society sang several selections.

The scores in the telegraphic shoot with Milwaukee were very good, as the day was an ideal one for the shooters. The team scores were as follows:

HAYWOOD TRIAL NOT IN PROGRESS TODAY

ARRAIGNMENT OF ORCHARD 4 MADE TO SECURE DISMISSAL

DEFENSE'S WITNESS IN CITY

State Has Failed to Directly Connect Haywood With Crimes, and Pinkertons Are Blamed

BOISE, Idaho, June 17.—Orchard was taken to Caldwell early today to be arraigned before Judge Wood upon the charge of the assassination of Steunenberg. This was done as a matter of form in order to secure an adjournment in the case. On account of Judge Wood being in Caldwell there was no Haywood trial today. Adams may testaify tomorrow. A batch of the defense's witnesses arrived this morning from Denver and Cripple Creek.

Witnesses Sent Home

Thirty witnesses summoned by the state to testify against W. D. Haywood have been given their mileage and expenses and sent home. Following Senator Borah's announcement yesterday that the state will close its case in another day or two, this dismissal of witnesses is taken as an indication that the prosecution is about through with its evidence with which the vast conspiracy of the mining region and the murder of Governor Steunenberg was to have been proved.

Senator Borah, special prosecutor Hawley and Governor Gooding are said to be greatly disappointed in some of the witnesses brought here by Detective McParland and feel that the state has been misled to produce indubitable evidence to connect Haywood with the assassinations admitted by Orchard. The crucial time arrived for these witnesses to take the stand and when they were examined by the state's prosecutors in advance of being called and sworn, they failed to make good. Credence is given the reports that the Pinkertons have not delivered all the evidence they promised by Senator Borah's statement this afternoon that neither McParland nor any other Pinkerton is to be called as a witness by the state.

No Direct Connection with Haywood

So far the state has succeeded only in corroborating parts of Orchard's confession, but not a word of evidence has been offered that connects Haywood with Orchard's crimes. It is not to be denied that Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone were all familiar with the assassin in strike times and since the Colorado troubles were quieted. But the state has yet to show, by other testimony that Orchard's unsupported confession and surmises that these three chiefs of the Western Federation of Miners ever advised, abetted or approved any covert act or commissioned Orchard, Adams and Simpson to go forth and do murder.

The defense expects to show that money transactions between Pettibone and Orchard were partially due and that there was no criminal connection between the two men. It is proposed to prove that Orchard frequently left money with Pettibone, particularly when he was successful at gambling, then, according to Pettibone's friends, Orchard would seek other fields, go broke and send to Pettibone for some of the money that was his own.

Doubts as to Calling Adams

Tonight the state is still undecided whether Steve Adams is to be called as a witness.

START NORMAL EARLY THIS YEAR

BILL WILL PASS TODAY OR TOMORROW

MORRIS CONFIDENT OF IT

Local Legislator Does Not Believe Present Session Will Close Before July 10

The board of regents of normal schools will meet two weeks earlier this year, on June 26, states Senator Thomas Morris of this city, who is a member of the board. The board will have a number of important matters to consider and the members want to get the different questions under way. This will mean that the work on the new La Crosse normal school will be started very early this summer.

The bill is set on the calender at Madison for today or Tuesday, and will be passed as soon as introduced, states Mr. Morris. Consequently, when the board of regents meets, action can be taken at once.

The indications are that the legislature will not finish its business before July 10. So much time has been taken up in the discussion of minor matters, the session has been delayed considerably. It is understood the assembly will convene early in the morning and keep regular hours so that the business can be hurriedly disposed of.

RAILROADS

of damages he is shown that the bill excludes him from right to recover, and unless he is a big shipper, familiar with his rights, he is likely to assume that he has forfeited his right and so makes no insistence on damages. It is charged much abuse has thus grown up.

Power of Commission.

Under the Hepburn bill there is no express conference upon the interstate commission of power to prescribe a uniform bill of lading. But so many specific limitations in this regard are laid upon carriers, and the commission's general power is so much enlarged, that it has been claimed the condition could, by a process of lading, practically force the roads to uniformity. The commission has for a long time had in mind a study of its powers and rights, and an effort to secure by cooperation with the roads a uniform contract. The roads in trunk line territory finally asked that the matter be taken up with this in view.

Some legal question of vital importance arose in this connection. Heretofore, when freight was to be moved over a route composed of two or more roads, the initial carrier, which issued the bill, has always specified that it should be liable for only such damages as occurred on its own tracks. As the carrier could seldom prove where the damage took place, his chance of recovery was small. The Hepburn law changed all this, with a provision that the initial carrier, issuing the bill, should be responsible for damages, wherever happening, and if the damages occurred on another line should have an action at law to recover from the connecting carrier. Some questions were raised about the consruction of this, but these are said to have been determined so that a provision can be written into a uniform bill, with assurance that it will stand the commission's test.

Other Questions Involved.

Another railroad practice is that of charging a special rate for insurance of goods in transit, somewhat higher than that which includes no such insurance. Many roads thus have two sets of rates on considerable classes of business, and there is a grave suspicion in the commission's mind that this may be used as a means of discriminating among shippers. The practice is not viewed with entire satisfaction, and is not unlikely to be entirely prohibited.

These questions are being considered, along with collateral ones, in a hearing by the commission of a committee representing railroads and shippers in trunk line territory, and also the Lake Carriers' association. The view is to agree upon a uniform bill as soon as these questions are ruled on by the commission. It will be a most important step, and the more significant because it represents voluntary co-operation. Roads in other parts of the country are expected to accept the bill finally agreed upon by these interests.

The movement for a uniform classification of freight throughout the country is also being taken up, and there is thought to be good prospect that this long-wished simplification of transportation methods will be brought about before long.

Unique Program and "Rogues' Gallery" With Bill-of-Fare Attracts Much Attention

The first annual outing of the A. A. L. Co. Workers club was held yesterday at Dresden's park, the members being employes of the Leisenfeld printing establishment. Twenty-one were in the party which left at 9 o'clock in the morning in a launch for the park and returned at 9 o'clock in the evening. The event proved a delightful one to all. A menu card had been prepared for the occasion, seting off the many delicacies to be had at luncheon. A notice was posted at the bottom of the menu which stated that the menu complied with all the requirements of the Pure Food law.

On either side of the card were the names of the empolyes, headed up "Rogues Gallery," with the number of the "convict" and a short sketch, as follows:

HAS THIRTY CHILDREN

So Michigan Man Wanted to See Roosevelt

HOLLAND, Mich., June 17.—Fifteen sons, all at work on his farm, is the reward of F. T. Mether, who resides six miles from here. He has thirty children all living, and believes he holds the championship.

Mether's first wife gave birth to six, and his present helpmeet is mother to twenty-four. She is 45 and her husband 63.

Mether went to Lansing during the visit of President Roosevelt to show some of his numerous progeny, but when he approached the executive the secret service men doubted his story and ordered him away. He was much disappointed and thirdly, that the new duma be convoked Nov. 14 of the present year."

The ruling senate will not fail to take proper measures to place this in effect. —NICHOLAS.

Peterhof, June 16.

This ukase is countersigned by the president of the council of ministers, P. A. Stolypin.

Overrides Fundamental Law

This act constitutes a virtual coup d'etat and overrides the specific provisions of the fundamental laws of the realm, solemnly proclaimed by his majesty on the eve of the convocation of the first duma, which declare that the electoral law could never be changed without the consent of parliament itself.

This breach of the constitution is justified by the great law of necessity, the advisers of the emperor holding it impossible, under present condition, to secure a praliament capable of co-operating harmoniously with the crown to rescue Russia from anarchy and revolution.

In the explanation of his peremptory annullment of the law by which the rights of the public were protected, Nicholas made the following statement:

"God intrusted us with imperial authority over our people," his majesty declares, "and before his throne we must answer for the fate of the Russian state. Conscious of this, we have taken a firm resolution to bring to an end the great task of the transformation of Russia begun by us, and to grant Russia a new electoral law, the publication of which we intrust to the ruling senate.

"From our loyal subjects we expect a hearty and unanimous service to the fatherland whose sons ever have been the fortress of her power, glory and prestige. —NICHOLAS.

Papers Are Suppressed

An order from Gen. Dracheffski, prefect of St. Petersburg, addressed to the municipal press, announces that the publication of any article inimical to the government will be considered a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $1,500 and three months in jail. This is the most drastic measure proclaimed against the press since the days of black reaction. In view of this situation many of the liberal papers are unable to publish, at least one of them having already announced its suspension.

Seven Accused Desputies Escape

During the night nine of the sixteen social democratic leaders specifically named in the government's indictment, including Prince Tzertzerteli and M. Dzhaparidge, were taken into custody. The other seven succeeded in eluding the elaborate provisions made for their arrest. Two secret service officers, with signed warrants, had been assigned to follow each deputy and serve the warrants as soon as the ukase was promulgated. They were instructed to follow their men to the frontier if necessary, but the deputies suceeded in making their escape.

While there was no disorder to speak of in St. Petersburg, the temper of the populace was shown by the manner in which the news of the dissolution was received. The imperial decree reached the St. Petersburg papers too late for their last editions, but the public was quickly informed through extras and great posters set out by the police at all street corners, containing the ukase announcing the dissolution, and the imperial manifesto.

Little knots of readers clustered around these the whole day, attentively perusing the manifesto, the phrasing of which was calculated to appeal to the patriotism of the lower classes. The readers, as they turned away, spat silently upon the ground as a sign of their deepest contempt, and the fairly pacific surface appearance is not taken to indicate that the incident will pass without bloodshed.

Principal Danger Points.

Kieff and Odessa are the principal danger points. Feeling has been high in both cities for some weeks past.

Warsaw is guarded by 300,000 troops.

The Poles are greatly excited because of rumors that they are to be excluded from representation in the new parliament.

A second ukase was issued today progueing the council of the empire until Nov. 13.

BIG CROWD AT MANITOWOC

MANITOWOC, Wis., June 17.—Milwaukee and Watertown delegates to the German Krieger Verein in session here have started a movement for a home which is opposed because of the expense. The plan is to have a home like that maintained by New York societies. The estimated cost is $100,000, and it is proposed to levy a tax of $10 on each member. One hundred and thirty-three delegates will be seated in the convention today when the election of officers and choosing the next convention city will come up. It is conceded that Appleton will get the next meeting.

S.S.S. KILLS THE GERMS OF SCROFULA

Through the blood, diseases are carried from one generation to another. Parents transmit them to their children, and so it goes on down the family line for years and years unless the taint is removed from the blood. Especially is this true of Scrofula, for it is a disease that is "bred in the bone," and unless the blood is purified and every trace of the trouble removed the miserable disease will finally undermine the entire health and wreck the life of its victim. The usual symptoms of Scrofula are enlarged glands or tumors about the neck, which often burst and become discharging ulcers, weak eyes, Catarrh of the head and throat, skin diseases, etc. The trouble being so firmly intrenched in the blood often attacks the bones, resulting in White Swelling, or hip disease, while a waxy, pallid appearance of the skin, loss of strength and energy, and often lung affections, show that the disease is entirely destroying the bright red corpuscles and rich, nutritive qualities of the blood. Scrofula being a constitutional disease, one affecting the entire circulation, must be treated with a remedy that builds up and strengthens every part of the system, which has so long been denied the strength and nourishment it should have received from the blood. S. S. S. is the best of all blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics, and is therefore the ideal remedy for Scrofula. S. S. S. searches out and destroys all germs, taints and poisons, gives strength, richness and vigor to the blood and cures Scrofula permanently. It so thoroughly removes the trouble from the blood that no signs of it are ever seen again, and posterity is started out in life with a clean, pure blood supply, which is their rightful inheritance. S. S. S. while thorough, is gentle in its action, and the healing vegetable ingredients which compose it build up every part of the system. Book on the blood and medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

GOOD CORN WEATHER NOW

Hot Temperature Is Fine for Crops Which Have Been Backward This Spring

The drop of butter is the only change in the local market. Creamery dropped to 23@24 cents a pound and dairy to 20@22 cents.

The dray, warm weather is very favorable to growing grain around La Crosse, particularly corn. Inquiry from a local crop expert draws forth the fact that all small grain is coming along nicely, and for it conditions could hardly be any better than they have been. As to corn, however, the continued cold weather has been detrimental, and a number of reports have been received of its rotting in the ground. Some few farmers have resorted to reseeding. It is anticipated that the cooler weather of the past few days will cause corn to germinate about which doubts had been entertained.

FASHION BITS.

Revival of an Ancient Fad—Pongee Is the Fabric Most Worn.

If you have an old oval brooch with a bar crossing it lengthwise in buckle fashion, its time has come again. If it is a jeweled brooch, you are in great good fortune, for it is the latest cry—a black satin neck scarf with an antique jeweled pin fastening it.

Plain velvet collars and velvet buttons rimmed with cloth like the gown are two features that are prevalent in the new checked and striped suits. The collars are a natural outcome of the mixed materials, and the buttons are an ingenious new development emanating from some clever tailor's brain.

Early styles in millinery are always spectacular. It always takes the entire spring season to curb them into something like sensibleness. Ultra fashions are always short lived. The eye wearies of them as certainly as does the palate of condiments and sweets.

For summer wear there is nothing more serviceable and yet so attractive as the natural toned pongees, rajahs and tussahs which are so much in vogue at the present moment. Jaunty coats in full and half lengths are shown for summer wear in conjunction with hats of the same material.

The tailor made woman will have it all her own way this summer. Blouses and shirts on the most approved mannish lines are to be prominent, and the lingerie affairs of past seasons are again to become negligee.

The handsome gown shown herewith is made of pongee in one of the lovely new apricot shades. It is trimmed with soutache braid applied over a stamped design and is worn with a guimpe of ecru lace.

BASEBALL TOPICS.

Jennings Has New Training Plan For Detroit Team.

HOW TO SLIDE TO BASES, ETC.

Harry Lumley, Great Outfielder of Brooklyn Team, Is One of Most Valuable Players In the Game—His Batting Ability.

The Detroit American club's new manager, Hughey Jennings, is not only intensely practical, but also highly original. When you went to school as a boy you probably kicked against getting lessons because you wanted to play ball. But the major league ball players—at least the Tigers—have their lessons to study nightly despite the fact that their whole time is devoted to the game.

They can't dodge study by playing ball. Manager Jennings has had copies made of baseball articles written by himself, and each player is given one at stated intervals dealing with various phases of the work. It is not written along a set line of action. Each treatise is just an article dealing with certain fine points of the game, aiming to lend the players helpful hints toward perfection.

Jennings knows how to keep his boys interested. His talks are always on some baseball topic that will help them and yet keep them interested. It is in this style that his essays are written.

Base sliding particularly is given attention. He warns them against keeping their feet too far apart while leading off first. He shows the advantages of sliding foremost into the bases and details the different styles.

More interesting than anything else is his insistence that third base is no harder to steal than second. He urges them all to try it as much as possible.

Harry Lumley of Brooklyn is considered to be one of the most valuable ball players in the country. His worth has so increased during the past three years that he has brought his club out of the mire and put it on a paying basis. From the manner in which the club hangs on to him it is estimated that he actually represents $20,000 of the club's assets.

Large sums have been offered for the great star by the other rich clubs of the league, and they have all been turned down. During the past two seasons there is not a club in the entire National organization that has not made some proposition to Owner Ebbets for this man.

The amount of money in some of these offers would represent the entire value of many ball clubs in the minor leagues.

Ever since Charley Murphy took hold of the Chicago National club he has been in redhot chase of Lumley. A year ago last winter Murphy spent the greater part of a week in New York trying to land Lumley to play with the Cubs.

The New York club has made wonderful offers to land him, and Cincinnati, Pittsburg and all of the other National clubs have been in the rush to grab off the terrible swatter of the league.

Lumley is a ball player who stands alone in the league. He is the heaviest hitter that has swung a bat in that organization in many years, and some of the old time fans declare that in all their experience they have never seen a man that could rap out the ball so hard and keep it up game after game.

Lumley plays in the outfield and besides being a good hitter has the arm to throw and the legs to run that make a No. 1 fielder and base runner.

The question of shortening the big baseball league schedules is somewhat threadbare, but it is being thrust to the front again by the intolerable baseball weather that has prevailed all over the country during the early games of this season.

President Johnson has been quoted as saying in Cleveland that under no circumstances will the American league open the season again in winter, but he has declared almost as much before, changing his mind when confronted with the alternative of allowing the National league to open at an earlier date and thus get the benefit of the fireworks that invariably attend the beginning of real baseball each year.

PASTOR' INSULT OUTRAGES EAGLES

J. L. UTERMOEHL SAYS REPORT IS UNJUSTIFIABLE

EAGLES WERE ALL ORDERLY

Says Delegates Were Not Responsible If Hoodlums Took Opportunity to Engage in a Spree.

Local delegates of the La Crosse Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, are very much exercised over the charges made by an Oshkosh minister, Rev. Mr. Ayers, to the effect that the Eagles convention held there last week, was a scene of lawlessness and debauchery; that the women of Oshkosh were insulted on the streets and taht there was general confusion and noise during the convention.

"It is an outrage," said J. L. Utermoehl, of the local aerie, who was elected vice-president of the state organization. "The charges of the Oshkosh minister are false and unfounded. The Eagles convention was just as orderly as any convention could be. The minister compared our convention wtih that of the Grand Army held at Oshkosh the week previous. It stands to reason that a crowd of the younger generation would make a litle omre noise than a convention of old soldiers.

"As to the statemen that the women brought about any excitement which might have taken place. They were on the streets all the time and would pull the badges from the coats of the delegates and in other ways make themselves troublesome. Then the young men of Oshkosh took advantage of the occasion to get hilarious, and if investigated it would be found that the Eagles had very little to do with raising any commotion. The crowds were on the streets late Wednesday night, the night of the parade, and the crowded condition of the city made it necessary for many to stay up all night. There were women in the saloons, but this condition you will find in all large cities. I will say, however, that some of the saloons on the Main street in Oshkosh are not fit to enter."

Gus Carl, also delegate from this city, expressed the same sentiment when asked about the allegations of the Oshkosh minister. "It wasn't any worse than other conventions," he said. "Our meetings were as orderly as could be and confined entirely to business. The outsiders were the ones who grew hilarious."

The Mohammedan Oath.

Of all the many forms of taking the oath used in the courts perhaps the most picturesque is that which the Mohammedan is required to take. It is a silent ceremony. The son of Islam places his right hand flat upon the Koran and puts the other on his forehead; then he brings his forehead down to and in contact with the book. He then raises himself and looks up steadfastly for some seconds. The officer of the court should then—though he sometimes forgets this—ask the Mohammedan, "Are you bound by the ceremony you have performed to speak the truth?" and the answer is, "I am." In India the ceremony has been abolished in favor of an affirmation.

Milk In Turkey.

In Turkey there is a great consumption of the milk of the buffalo, the common cow, the goat and the ewe, but it is hardly ever used in a natural state. After slow cooling the milk is treated with a ferment taken from the previous day's supply. In a few hours a curd forms which is called yaghoun. The preparation is preferred to milk, and it has a pleasant, clean, acid taste and is, of course, nutritious.

STORY OF REIGN OF OUTLAWRY AT CONVENTION HURTS

CALL THE "YARN" A CANARD

Denial Emphatically Made That Women Were Insulted—Women Join in Protest.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 17.—Members of Milwaukee aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, returning home Saturday from the annual convention of the state association at Oshkosh last week, emphatically deny charges of lawlessness and debauchery made against the order by the Rev. Augustus Marshall Ayers of Oshkosh. Wives, sister, and daughters, who accompanied the Milwaukee delegations, join in the general denial and take particular exception to the allegation by the Oshkosh pastor that women were insulted on the streets during the convention.

"I defy the Rev. Mr. Ayers and everybody else to point out one single act of lawlessness committed by a member of the Eagles during the Oshkosh convention," said Conrad H. Mann, worthy president of the Milwaukee aerie, last night.

MADISON, Ind., June 17.—Last night while a party of young people residing in the vicinity of Lovett were returning to their homes from attending a singing school, one of the young women of the party dared Charles Dawson and Fred Ochs to remain on the railway track a longer time than herself in the face of a rapidly approaching train. The challenge was accepted. As a result Dawson was killed and Ochs fatally injured. The young woman escaped with a torn dress.

THREE REQUISITES OF SUCCESS NAMED

PRESIDENT VAN HISE DELIVERS BACCALAUREATE SERMON

UNIVERSITY COMMENCEMENT

Resourcefulness, Leadership and Faithfulness Are the Essentials to the Highest Success

MADISON, Wis., June 17.—The exercises of the fifty-fourth commencement of the University of Wisconsin began Sunday with the baccalaureate address delivered before a large audience by President Charles R. Van Hise on "The Attainment of Success." The invocation was by the Rev. F. T. Galpin, Baptist church; scripture lesson by the Rev. P. B. Knox, St. Patrick's Catholic church; prayer, the Rev. George McAdam, Methodist church; benediction, the Rev. Arthur T. Reed, Pilgrim Congregational church. President Van Hise spoke in part as follows:

The Fundamental Qualities

"Success is assured to each of you who, during the period of your education, have acquired three fundamental qualities—punctuality, accuracy and reliability. The student who at graduation has learned to meet his engagements with invariable promptness, is many laps in advance of the man who has not acquired this habit, for the quality can not be gained in a day. It is one which is slowly acquired by long and patient cultivation, continued demand upon one's self that he shall not be a minute late at an appointment, that he shall otn be a day behind in the performance of an assigned piece of work.

"The second of the qualities, accuracy, is a rare quality, but one which like that of punctuality, can be acquired by any one. Accuracy is a mere matter of habit, which can be acquired by the dullest man in the class; indeed, it is often possessed in a greater degree by the dull man than by the actue one, because he has taken pains in this particlar, while the readier man has not. Your duller compaion, who has acquired this habit, unless you remedy this defect during the next few years, will pass you in the life march.

"Thfe third of the fundamental qualities which are necessary for your success is reliability. By reliability i mean the execution of the orders of your superiors with unfailing certainty. All executive offers will appreciate the immense relief one feels when he finds that among his subordinates is one to whom a task may be assigned with the certainty that it will be executed. This quality of reliability does not require talent. The dullest man may have it; or, if he has it not, may have it. Each may become obsolutely reliable in reference to the tasks assigned, but the quality is even more difficult to acquire—demands more rigid training of one's self—than punctuality or accuracy. It involves ability to plan in advance, at least to a limited degree, and includes the systematic listing of all pieces of work assigned to one, and their frequent checking up. No excuses will serve for lack of promptness, accuracy and reliability."

ANOTHER BANKER BAD

Seymour Cashier Sinks $40,000 in Chicago Wheat Pit

SEYMOUR, Wis., June 17.—A defalcation to the extent of $40,000, caused by the allurements of the Chicago wheat pit, is responsible for the arrest of Thos. C. Coghill, cashier of the First National bank of this city, and who was taken into custody by a federal officer and removed to Milwaukee Saturday.

Mere observance of an unusual quantity of mail being received during the last few weeks by Coghill was the indirect cause of the expose.

President Dittmar says that plenty of cash has been received to meet any emergency and that business will not be suspended for a moment.

Coghill has made a clean breast of his misappropriations, and has put up a story that is hardly believed by the bank directors. He declares that funds really disappeared before he touched one cent of the bank's money and that the beginning of his defalcations was caused in an effort to make good the shortage.

TWO BODIES FOUND AT MILWAUKEE

One Dead in Lake and One in River

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 17.—The bodies of two men were found yesterday, one in the river near the Oneida street bridge, at 4:30 a. m., and the other in the lake near the flushing tunnel at 3 p. m. Both bodies had evidently been in the water fo some time. Neither one has been identified. The body found in the river was first seen by Frank Schneider, an Onieda street bridge tender. The man was from 30 to 35 years old, clad in a black stripped shirt, black trousers and a black vest. He had brown hair and no beard.

The body found in the lake was that of a man about 45 years old. The man was dressed in a dark brown suit, and a short black overcoat, a light shirt, and colar, with a dark necktie.

FIND WOMAN'S DRESS

That and Piece of Deck Drift of Arcadia Wreck

KENOSHA, Wis., June 17.—The first wreckage from the Arcadia, which was lost off the Michigan shore early in the season of navigation, was found Saturday by Captain W. J. Barnett of the tug William Engel, about twenty miles ow Kenosha in Lake Michigan. The portion of the lost steamer was a skylight in a section of the upper deck. The section found was about forty feet long and thirty feet wide. An oar stamped Arcadia was also found. Adhering to the glass fragments in the skylight were portions of a woman's dress from which it appears that some woman had been lashed to the wreckage in an effort to save her life.

The Summer Camping Party that equips itself properly for an enjoyable time in the woods is always careful to include a few cases of rich, ripe malt beer in its outfit, like Gund's Peerless Beer
the beer that makes you feel that life is worth living. No man can once taste this splendid beer without pronouncing it a beer of commanding superiority and magnificent flavor. It contains, indeed, all the elemental strength of the choicest barley and hops, because it is brewed, not by any of the common processes, but by the famous Gund Natural Process, a peculiar and unique old German Process, which retains and develops, in a most remarkable degree the life principle of the barley and the hop. In fact human knowledge and skill cannot produce a more truly and wholesome and delicious bottled beer.
"Peerless" contains not more than 3½ per cent of alcohol, enough to just stimulate digestion. It has been brewed and sold for more than half a century. Peerless when first produced, it is Peerless still.
Bottled at the home plant only. Sold at all reputable hotels, restaurants and buffets—but you must ask for it by name. The home trade a specialty. Try a case delivered this very day. Telephone, write or call. Taste it once and you'll remember it forever.
